The Chapel of LOVE

TAKEN FROM "VITAL CHRISTIANITY"
A Church of God Publication.

norm of the church

MAKE no mistake—Christ's new commandment of loving concern for one another is forever bound upon his church. Love we must or else admit that we are "out of order." When the church is living to the fullest of her capacities, when she is robed in her glory, she is on the firm with "Love one another," Christ said, laying it down as a saying to be kept as absolutely as "Thou shalt not kill."

People are sometimes disappointed in the caliber and quantity of love they find within the church. Experience insists that on occasion they have a right to be. Now and again we still find one Corinthian quarreling with another over a minute point of doctrine. We yet discover one widow being abundantly provided for while another struggles at the bottom of the barrel. We detect that still there is a Paul among you who lacks patience with our young John Marks. However, it is no more fair to say that this is the church than to say that Selma, Alaska, is the United States of America, included in the whole, yes, but representative, no.

So long as the church is peopled with humanity, it will have love's exceptions. Such individuals represent salvation's unfinished work. But Christ wrote love into the charter of the church, and given time love will predominate. Christ emerges from the most uneasy of situations. To all those who have found the church of the living God "sometimes divisive, sometimes unobedient, sometimes deceitful," we say for your reassurance that you have not seen the church in perspective. Stay a little longer, and you will conclude with observers of ancient days, "Behold how they love one another." You may even exclaim, "Behold, how they love me."

The church is not always loving. It is just mostly loving. Do our brothers lose patience with us? Do our sisters misunderstand us? Do we forget to forgive? Honestly confesses, "True, true." But this is only grounds for disappointment, not disillusionment. Even if the fellowship of the church is not perfect, it is way ahead of whatever fellowship is in second place.

He who expects a written guarantee that everyone in the church will always hug his neck is asking that which is not ours to give. What we can give is a promise that wherein our love fails, we will repent and ask your forgiveness. This is not a guarantee. It is a reciprocal agreement. If you accept it, you shall also be bound by it.

Though Christians may deviate from the pattern of love, let them "have no doubt concerning the nature of the standard from which they are" departing. "As someone has said: 'Love is not the only mark [of the church]—it is merely the final mark.' Love is the norm of the church. Let us practice it more perfectly."

—Keith Huttenlocher

THE BIBLE TODAY

For Publication During the Week of August 1 to August 7, 1966

A problem Christians are constantly having to face is how to dispel the feeling among many young people who have not read the Bible that it is out-dated and unreadable.

An attempt has been made by the Danville Bible Society to make the Bible meaningful to young people. Challenged, says Miss V. Jensen, Bible Society Secretary, by young people saying "I feel the dust falls on me when I pick up the Bible," the Society decided to make a photograph record of Bible readings by the most famous Danish actor, Paul Hagen, who kindly gave his services free of charge. The record is presented in a bright, attractive sleeve designed by a contemporary artist. Many people, of course, thought the record to have the same effect as a result, a considerable number of letters are received from people inquiring about the readings. Many say, "Where can I get a Bible like that?" Miss Jensen also speaks to many groups of young people, impressing on them that the Bible is to be read not only by those in "missionary" countries, but by themselves.

Suggested Daily Bible Readings: Sunday, Aug. 7: Genesis 22; Monday, Aug. 8: Genesis 23; Tuesday, Aug. 9: Genesis 24; Wednesday, Aug. 10: Genesis 25; Thursday, Aug. 12: Genesis 26; Friday, Aug. 13: Genesis 27; Saturday, Aug. 14: Genesis 28.

THE BIBLE TODAY

For Publication During the Week of August 8 to August 14, 1966

Pairs are common in Thailand, and vary from trade fairs to fairs in temple grounds. One fair is organized annually to raise funds for the work of the Danville Bible Society. It was made an occasion to distribute the Scriptures free. Thailand Bible House co-operated with several other Christian groups to arrange a fair. The fair was held at the Danville Bible House and was a great success. The fair was held at the Danville Bible House and was a great success. The fair was held at the Danville Bible House and was a great success.

A memorial monument was built on the peak of the Tien-tai Mountain in Japan last Spring with a New Testament deposited in its base. Two students who climbed the mountain in the winter did not return, and when their bodies were found in the Spring, in the pocket of one of them was found a New Testament. The student's name was found in the Bible. The student's name was found in the Bible. The student's name was found in the Bible.

arrived out because of the rain. Anyone getting bored with the meeting discussion could at back and admit the recent paint job done on the interior of the building by the local community members. After the meeting, games of bingo were played. Several of the district young people dropped in to take part in the bingo games.

Vancouver visitors to Vancouver this week (those I've heard about were Mr. and Mrs. R. Cannon and Kim at the home of Mrs. Cannon's grandmother, Mrs. T. R. Cannon, who is at the home of her son Mr. W. Collings, who is a French teacher.

As was foreseen last week, the Agricultural Society building is taking shape. The lower part of the walls, cement, have been poured and the trusses can now be put in place.

This is 1961, the Centennial year. Here in the hospital will confer on hundred diploma to one hundred of the graduates, representing all the Canadian provinces.

The Centennial of Pedlar's hunting will be of great value to the girl who attend this course, and secure them a good living. During the 18 months they spent at the school and work in the hospital weeks, they will enjoy good living conditions, close supervision and chaplaincy, and receive a stipend of $25.00 per month plus pocket money. In return they will bring the 18 and the Pacific Province into the lives of Canadian girls of French descent in the hospital. Several of the girls who have never been beyond the borders of Quebec.

Selection of the Alberta students for this course will be made shortly, and girls who are interested are invited to write Dr. R. R. Rose, Director of Special Services, Department of Education, 300 Administration Building, Edmonton, Alberta.
